Cottolene makes delicious pastry

It's the last word in pastry-making. It makes cakes so light and airy that every mortal tastes like "more."

Digestible too, because Cottolene food is never greasy.

Cottolene is better than lard, because it's a vegetable—not an animal-product. It is richer—use one-third less.

Cottolene is cheaper than butter—costs no more than lard, and will give better results than either. Use one-third less than butter also.

Cottolene is never sold in bulk—always in air-tight tin pails, which protect it from dirt, dust and odors. It is always uniform and dependable.

A brilliant debut party opened this week of gaiety when Sidney and Jesse Mayer entertained Monday night, with a delightful dance at the Progress club, in honor of their sister, Miss Grace Mayer.

The rooms were decorated in Christmas colors of red and green. Ropes of evergreen were gracefully draped through the rooms and red geraniums decorated the chandeliers most artistically. Palms were placed in the rooms in every conceivable spot and music for the dancing was furnished by an orchestra.

Receiving the guests were Mr. and Mrs. Max Mayer, Mr. and Mrs. A. S. Jacobs, Miss Grace Mayer, Miss Gertrude Epstein, of Los Angeles, Calif., and Sidney and Jesse Mayer.

At 9 o'clock the grand march was led by Miss Grace Mayer and Sidney Mayer, those next in line were Miss Gertrude Epstein and Herman Strauss and the third couple were Mr. and Mrs. A. S. Jacobs.

Punch was served during the evening and later a delicious three course supper. The tables were beautifully decorated in smilax and quantities of cutlery were used in serving.

Many handsome gowns were worn by those present. The guest of honor, who is a beautiful girl of the brunette type, wore a white, champagne-colored, trimmed in duchesse lace and silver. She carried American beauty roses.

Mrs. Mayer wore a black crepe de chine with jet trimmings, and carried violets. Her sister, Miss Grace Mayer, wore a gown of old rose.

Two Of The Smaller Hats

The draped toque is made of moleskins, with a single long loop of coral velvet ribbon, the ends of which disappear under the folds of the fur. Cleverly interwoven with the fur are strands of silver lace, and a frill of this material is used around the edge of the hat.

The black bluish hat is one of the new styles. It is made of a soft material and set square on the head. A twist of white velvet and a white feather form the only trimming.
